The MSU Extension WorkLife Guide was created specifically for employees of MSU Extension. All other MSU faculty and staff can refer to the “WorkLife Guide for MSU Faculty and Staff”.
INTRODUCTION

Michigan State University values the multiple roles and responsibilities each of us has in our professional and personal lives. Whether you are a faculty, academic staff, support staff, or administrator, your ability to navigate your work and personal lives compatibly will help you be a productive, satisfied, successful, and healthy member of the MSU community. This WorkLife Guide will help connect you to the breadth of resources available to you for your work and personal lives.

WorkLife Office

The MSU WorkLife Office (WLO) provides a one-stop destination for your lifespan and career/professional life questions. The staff of the office can help facilitate success in your many roles and can offer guidance in creating synergy between those responsibilities. The mission of the WorkLife Office is to partner with the community to create an inclusive, responsive work environment where all faculty, academic staff and support staff are respected and supported toward well-being in work and personal lives.

The office accomplishes this mission by offering guidance and education in five areas:

1. Career Transitions: Career transition concerns may include: parental leave; taking on a new role at MSU; advancing or changing careers; faculty tenure clock stoppage; among others. The WorkLife Office offers consultation and connects you to seminars and workshops to assist in these matters.

2. Relocation & Community Connections: If you are new to Michigan State, Michigan or the United States, the WorkLife Office can help connect you to community resources. Even if you aren’t new to the area, we have plenty of ways to help you locate and access the resources you need.

3. Family Care: Resources include, but are not limited to: consultation to determine the best care for you and your family’s needs; identifying emergency childcare; sharing best practices for eldercare.

4. Workplace Assistance: We offer guidance for talking with supervisors about flexible work arrangements, recommendations for resolving conflict in the workplace, and identifying MSU policies which may apply to your workplace setting, among others.

5. Research: We provide access to cutting-edge research about best practices for work-life synergy and develop research specific to MSU’s community.

MSU Extension Human Resources

The MSU Extension Human Resources office is committed to supporting all employees of Extension—in all of our county offices as well as at the MSU East Lansing campus. Our goal is to provide quality HR services that attract, develop, motivate, and retain a diverse workforce within a supportive work environment. We work towards this goal with an emphasis on customer service through consultation with our staff as well as communication with the MSU campus community. If you are unsure who to contact for a specific issue, we suggest you reach out via our general contact information either by email to msuehr@anr.msu.edu or by telephone at (517) 353-9108.
Finding Childcare

Great Start to Quality

Parents can go online to locate childcare in their community. Go to www.greatstarttoquality.org and click on “Parents: Searching for child care and preschool?” Create a login or login as a guest. You can search by the times, location and type of childcare you are seeking. You will receive names and phone numbers of licensed providers in your community.

Choosing Childcare

It is very important that you take time to select your childcare provider, as quality of care may differ significantly between providers. A match between your child and the setting is necessary for a successful experience.

Initial Phone Contact with Prospective Providers

Begin by calling those childcare providers who appear to meet the criteria for your childcare needs. You may want to ask the following questions:
• How long have you been a childcare professional?
• What is the training background of the staff who will interact with my child?
• What days and hours can my child attend?
• What are your fees for caring for my child? Do you participate in any funding programs?
• What types of meals do you serve? Is the parent required to bring food?

• What is your program philosophy?
• How is the day structured?
• Are you nationally accredited or ranked by the State of Michigan?
• How do you handle discipline?
• What happens when my child is absent? Do I still pay? Am I allowed any vacation or sick days during the year? Do you take a vacation? Do I pay during your vacation days?
• What is your application process?
• When can I tour your program?

Visiting Prospective Childcare Providers

Your goal in visiting childcare providers is to see their programs in action. Take your child along, if possible, so they have the opportunity to experience the program.

Observe the environment:

Is the setting clean, safe and sanitary to your standards? Remember, this is a children’s setting; there may be materials and toys on the floor so the children can play and interact, but it should be a safe environment at all times.

Is the physical environment pleasant? Would you enjoy spending a long period of time in this space?

Are the children interacting and active in their play? Children should be busy and involved in activities. They should be talking and moving around in a constructive fashion. Do the children seem generally happy? Are they comforted when they are unhappy?

Are the children supported in their play with other children? Conflicts will occur, children struggle to “share” and they’ll get frustrated with each other. These are normal parts of a program.

Effective adults will help children work things out by guiding, redirecting and negotiating conflicts. What is the adult to child ratio?

Are the philosophy, program, and discipline guidelines of the program consistent with your goals for your child? Is the interaction that you see between children and adults consistent with the philosophy discussed? This information should be included in a parent handbook.

How does your child respond to the setting? Does your child take an interest in the activities of the program? Children will demonstrate this interest in different ways: some will get right in and become involved, others will watch from the parent’s arms. You know your child best, so look for signs of interest typical of your child.

How does the provider respond to your child? Did they welcome them, interact with them and introduce them to the other children? Do they appear nurturing and loving?

After the Decision is Made...

After you have selected the best program for your child, it is important to finalize the details. Make an appointment to meet with the caregiver to discuss details. Specific areas you should be sure to cover are:

• Fees, payment plan, and any penalties or additional fees that may be charged
• Days of care provided, such as beginning date, holidays and days closed
• Arrival and pickup times and procedures
• First day procedures and paperwork required
• Special supplies to bring (i.e., diapers, child’s belongings, special foods)
• Home to provider transition for the child

Criminal Background Checks

When hiring a childcare provider (either in-home or out of the home), you may want to see if they have had a criminal offense in Michigan. This can be done by sending a typed or clearly hand-written letter that includes the provider’s name (maiden, alias, or previously used), address, social security number, date of birth, race, sex, his/her Michigan driver’s license number and a check for $10 made out to the State of Michigan. The provider must also sign the letter.

Include a self-addressed, stamped envelope so that the file can be returned to you as soon as possible. The criminal background check will contain information on any crimes the person has been convicted of. However, you will not receive notice of any unsubstantiated accusations. It takes two weeks to process the request. If you have questions, contact the Freedom of Information Unit at (517) 241-1934. Mail your request to the following address:

Care.com
Care.com is a one-stop shop for babysitters, nannies, senior/eldercare support, housekeepers and even pet sitters! The site allows you to view detailed profiles of their vetted providers and select by experience, hourly rate, availability and more.

If you have needs for care in other areas across the nation (For example, your elder mother lives in Florida, or you have a conference in Atlanta and you want to take the baby) you can find care anywhere!

You can also look for “College Caregivers.” If you want to have access to MSU students’ profiles, you can search the system by college. Enter this MSU portal www.care.com/msu and enroll using your MSU NET ID for free access to providers.

Breastfeeding Support
Michigan State University supports breastfeeding mothers. The MSU administration understands the benefits of breastfeeding and expects supervisors to provide a supportive environment for mothers who choose to nurse their babies or express/pump their breast milk during the work day.

The WorkLife Office supports you and can provide breastfeeding information regarding: classes, pump loans or rentals, counseling and individual support, and discussions of flexible schedules. If you have questions on finding a private place to pump/express near your work site, and finding other breastfeeding mothers to connect with, contact the WorkLife Office or MSU Extension Human Resources. To be added to the MSU breastfeeding listserv, email the WorkLife Office at worklife@msu.edu with “Breastfeeding Listserv” in the subject line.

Are you responsible for the care of an elderly family member? Whether or not they live in your home, you may be responsible for the health and financial affairs of a parent, grandparent, spouse, or domestic partner.

This responsibility can be very stressful. As an MSU administrator, faculty/academic or staff member, balancing these roles can be overwhelming. The WorkLife Office offers support, whether your loved one is in Michigan or in another state. The WorkLife Office can consult with you, listen to your concerns regarding your situation, and discuss the options you may want to consider.

Elder issues are varied. You may be worried about them being home alone, or paying for health care services. You may be ready to plan a move into a residential facility or have legal questions. You may be concerned about the care they are receiving by a community agency, or you may have questions about Medicare/Medicaid. Regardless of their situation, the WorkLife Office can refer you to resources, locally or long distance.

Physical Health

Health4U

The Health4U Program encourages faculty, academic staff, support staff, graduate student employees, retirees and the spouses/partners of members of these groups to “redefine” the way “you” think about health!

Health4U’s goal is to promote good health by providing opportunities to participate in programs, services, and activities designed to make a positive difference in your health and the health of the campus community.

To experience the benefits of Health4U, you can participate in any of the classes, seminars, and groups offered in each of the following focus areas (Emotional Wellness, Food and Nutrition, Health Consumerism, Movement and Fitness, Alcohol, Nicotine and Drug Information), most of which are offered at no cost. Many of these services and programs are also offered virtually. There are multiple options for involvement:

- Take a health promotion class where you will learn about healthy lifestyle behaviors and how to make health-smart choices in your everyday life
- In-depth multi-session seminars such as “Healthy Eating: Finding the Balance Within,” “Boosting your Psychological Immune System,” “Finding Reliable Information Online”
- Register for an online program to stay informed about the latest news on health topics or to track your health behavior change process
- Participate in “Breathe Easy,” MSU’s Nicotine Cessation Program
- Set a healthy lifestyle goal and receive expert help to create and carry out a personal plan for success by making an appointment with the Health4U Coaching Service
- Encourage work colleagues to explore a healthy lifestyle philosophy by scheduling the Health4U team to assist with departmental based training and development

Ergonomics

Ergonomics is the study of how we work. By studying work methods used by individuals, the design and function of tools and objects that are used by the worker can be improved. The worker can be observed interacting in the work environment in relation to reaching or bending during the workday. Poor postures or extended reaching can be reduced or eliminated.

If you have questions about ergonomics, contact MSU Extension HR and/or a specialist from Physical Therapy & Orthopedics at MSU.

Flexible Work Arrangements

Flexible work arrangements can be a useful method to maintain unit service while supporting employees’ personal needs. At MSU arrangements can be made between employees and supervisors to allow non traditional schedules to complete employment duties. For consultation, call the WorkLife Office at (517) 353-1635, or visit the flexible work arrangement website, http://www.worklife.msu.edu/workplace-assistance/flexible-work. For details about creating specific arrangements, contact MSU Extension HR at (517) 353-9108.
Mental Health

Employee Assistance Program (EAP)

The MSU Employee Assistance Program benefit includes one to six confidential counseling sessions per year. The service includes assessment, short-term counseling, and referral for issues that require ongoing care. Service is provided free of charge to all MSU faculty, academic staff and support staff, graduate student employees, and retirees, regardless of the role in which a person serves the university, and is therefore equally available to administrative, academic and support staff. In addition, all services are available to the immediate family members (spouses, children, Other Eligible Individuals (OEIs)), of those groups.

If you work away from the East Lansing campus, you are still eligible for services and can receive short-term counseling via the telephone; call (toll-free) 1-888-280-9478 to schedule your appointment.

The EAP provides assessment and referral services, and brief counseling for a variety of work/life concerns including: workplace conflicts; relationship/marital concerns, family problems; moving through life transitions, grief and loss; addressing a wide range of addictions (alcohol, eating, smoking, gambling, sex, and others); stress reduction coaching; depression, anxiety; financial trouble.

The staff of the EAP are clinically trained counselors who are committed to providing emotional assistance in response to challenging life circumstances. The EAP also works in collaboration with the other on-campus resource providers.

Flexible Spending Accounts

Dependent Care Spending Account (DCSA)
DCSA is a benefit to help you meet your dependent care expenses. It enables you to save money by paying for dependent care expenses with pre-tax dollars. A designated amount of money is set aside from your paycheck. This money is deducted from your pay before federal, state, city and social security taxes. To use the DCSA, you pay for your actual expenses out-of-pocket and then request reimbursement for these expenses from your account. Reimbursements are made via direct deposit or by check and are non-taxable.

The annual maximum reimbursement for the DCSA is $5,000 per household. Employees that do not enroll by the enrollment deadline will not be eligible for the tax savings opportunities until the next calendar year, unless they have a qualifying life event.

Health Care Spending Account

The Health Care Spending Account (HCSA) program is a cost-effective way to pay for medical and dental plan deductibles/copayments, eyeglasses, contact lenses, orthodontics and other health-related expenses that aren't covered by insurance. The annual maximum reimbursement for the HCSA is $2,500 (as of 2016) per eligible employee and a maximum of $5,000 per household with two eligible MSU employees. It enables you to save money on a calendar year basis by paying for health-related expenses with pre-tax dollars.

Employees that do not enroll by the enrollment deadline will not be eligible for the tax savings opportunities until the next calendar year, unless they have a qualifying life event.

Family Medical Leave Act

The Family and Medical Leave Act (FMLA) is a federal law which helps employees balance their work responsibilities with their family and medical needs. The Act sets national standards for employers when providing leave for such purposes. It is expected employers and employees alike will benefit since there is a documented correlation between family stability, increased job satisfaction, reduced absenteeism and tardiness among workers.

The Act requires that eligible employees be allowed to take unpaid leave, or paid leave if earned, for a period of up to 12 work weeks in any 12-month period in the event of the birth of a child or the placement of a child for adoption or foster care; because the employee is needed to care for a family member with a serious health condition; or because an employee’s own serious health condition makes them unable to do their job. The Act provides for this leave to be taken intermittently, or the employee may work a reduced schedule, when such arrangements meet the medical necessity of the employee.

On October 28, 2009, the National Defense Authorization Act for Fiscal Year 2010 (H.R. 2647) was also signed into law which further expands the definitions of covered service member, covered active duty, and the definition of serious injury or illness.

Staff Leave Time

Sick Leave

Regular support staff are eligible to accrue paid time off for illness. Employees who are paid bi-weekly accumulate 4 hours of sick leave each pay period. Employees who are paid monthly accumulate 8 hours of sick leave each pay period, and receive 12 hours for two months of the year. This time is credited at the end of each month.

Family Sick Leave
Regular support staff may use accrued paid sick leave credits to care for a member of the employee’s immediate family or household who is ill. See the website for the number of hours available to employees based on union contracts, and review union contracts for specific definitions of immediate family and member of household.

Personal Leave
Regular full-time support staff receive 24 hours of paid time per fiscal year to attend to personal matters. Regular three-quarter time support staff receive 18 hours and regular half time support staff receive 12 hours. This time does not carry over to the next year. Employees hired or changed to regular status of half-time or more during the fiscal year will be credited with personal leave of 24 hours, if hired July through December 31. They will receive 12 hours if hired January 1 through March 31, and 6 hours if hired April 1 through May 31. No personal leave is granted to those hired between June 1 and June 30. Personal leave must be used in increments of one hour.

Faculty Leave Time

Short-Term Disability Medical Leave
Faculty and academic staff who are appointed for 50 percent time or more, for nine months or more, are eligible for up to six months of paid leave if health problems prevent working. Short-term disability leave related to pregnancy, childbirth, and/or recovery is for six weeks, but may be longer with proper medical certification.

Parental Leave
Faculty and academic staff who are appointed for 50 percent time or more, for nine months or more, are eligible to receive up to six weeks of paid parental leave in connection with the birth of a child. Faculty and academic staff who adopt a child younger than age six and/or are not attending school full-time are eligible to receive up to six weeks of paid parental leave.

In situations where the University employs both parents of a newborn/adopted child as faculty/academic staff, each parent can receive a maximum of six weeks of paid parental leave under this policy. Additional unpaid leave may be available for the birth of a child or the placement of a child for adoption or foster care in accordance with the Family Medical Leave Policy and/or the policy regarding Leaves of Absence Without Pay for faculty and academic staff.

College of Law Housing Law Clinic
The Clinic is staffed with second and third year law students who provide legal counseling, representation, and education to tenants, landlords, and others who have rental housing law difficulties. The Clinic operates under Michigan Court Rules that permit law students who are supervised by a member of the State Bar to provide legal services to clients. In addition to rental housing law issues, the Clinic addresses fair housing (including discrimination), affordable and subsidized housing, tenant foreclosure, land contracts, and other rent-to-own arrangements. The Clinic serves Michigan residents.

College of Law Tax Clinic

The Clinic’s goal is to provide low-cost, high-quality legal assistance to low-income taxpayers who have cases or controversies with the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) or who are non-filers, and to advise persons for whom English is a second language of their rights and responsibilities under the Internal Revenue Code. This program also helps to ensure that law students acquire hands-on experience in addressing and litigating matters before the IRS, counseling clients, and learning law office management.
